

Clemson University Equity, Inclusion, and COVID-19 Series

The global COVID-19 pandemic is a life event that impacts everyone, but everyone is not affected the same way. How is that possible?

Clemson University's Division of Inclusion and Equity is launching a series of virtual workshops to help faculty, staff, and graduate students explore the COVID-19 crisis from various perspectives in an effort to better navigate change associated with the virus.

The workshops are designed to examine the impact of the pandemic, and how a host of communities, differentiated by status, socioeconomics, health, age, gender, and religion, are affected.

Crisis often moves society forward. This moment gives us an opportunity to reflect, collaborate, and innovate in ways that foster more inclusive and equitable cultures and systems. Post-COVID-19 recovery will require the collective networks, capacities, knowledge, and skills of our organizations.

Together, we will explore ways to apply equitable and inclusive leadership practices while navigating COVID-19.

Sign-in with your Clemson University credentials to participate in the Equity, Inclusion and COVID-19 Series here:

<https://clemson.zoom.us/j/91182396684>

Contact Moryah Jackson, Director of Diversity Education at moryahj@clemson.edu for more information

May 26, 2:00 – 3:00 p.m.
Equity, Inclusion and COVID-19
Series Introduction

May 28, 10:00 – 11:00 a.m.
A History of Viruses

June 1, 10:00 – 11:00 a.m.
Racial Equity

June 3, 2:00 – 3:00 p.m.
The Impact on Rural Communities

June 9, 10:00 – 11:00 a.m.
Mental Health and Coping

June 11, 2:00 – 3:00 p.m.
The Impact on Global Learning and Engagement

June 15, 2:00 – 3:00 p.m.
The Impact on Veterans

June 17, 10:00 – 11:00 a.m.
Racism, Stigma and Xenophobia

June 23, 10:00 – 11:00 a.m.
Health Equity

June 25, 2:00 – 3:00 p.m.
Socioeconomic Implications

June 29, 10:00 – 11:00 am
Interfaith Responses
in South Carolina

July 1, 2:00 -3:00 p.m.
Ethics

July 7, 2:00 – 3:00 p.m.
The Impact
on Persons with Disabilities

July 9, 10:00 – 11:00 a.m.
The Impact on the LGBTQ+ Community

July 13, 10:00 am – 11:00 am
Media and Communications

July 15, 2:00 -3:00 p.m.
The Impact on Agriculture

July 21, 10:00 – 11:00 am
Gender Equity

July 23, 2:00 -3:00 p.m.
Empathy:
Why It Matters and How to Get It

July 27, 10:00 – 11:00 am
Inclusive Leadership

July 29, 2:00 -3:00 p.m.
Bridges Across Every Divide:
Life After COVID-19